The Food Bank of Contra Costa and Solano County is in need of both financial donations and volunteers as it works to meet the demands of the community in response to the coronavirus (COVID-19).

“We are still operating our regular distributions and working to supplement our produce-only distributions with non-perishable emergency food boxes. We are very much in need of community support through volunteering and monetary donations,” said Lisa Sherrill

The Food Bank is consolidating all of our updates for our COVID-19 response here: www.foodbankccs.org/covid19.
