Food Pantries

Pantries provide food to the general public on an ongoing basis. Pantries may limit the number of times they serve the same recipient in a given time period. All pantries strive to provide balanced food bags that include all food groups. Typically, the food is nonperishable, i.e. canned goods & dried beans, pasta & rice. Some pantries provide three day supplies of food for people in crisis situations put together according to a suggested menu & based on family size. Other pantries focus on perishable foods such as produce, dairy & bread & include a limited number of nonperishable items.

Most agencies require some form of identification from recipients & each person in their household. Food Pantries may require recipients to call ahead for an appointment. A small number of pantries ask people to get a referral from another agency. Please share the information about pantry requirements included with the pantry description with the people you are helping.

Senior Food Program

The Senior Food Program is a program of the Food Bank of Contra Costa & Solano.

Senior Food Program members must be 55 years of age or older, live in one of the areas served by the program, and have gross monthly incomes under the chart listed below. In general each recipient is expected to pick up his or her bag, unless other arrangements are made by the participant. Applicants can fill out a one-page application form at the Senior Food Program site in their area or call the Food Bank (925-676-7543) and an application will be mailed to them.

Distribution is twice a month; Senior Food Program members who are unable to pick up a bag at their site can send someone to pick up on their behalf. The bags vary but in general each contains seven to eight different items with bread, fresh fruits & vegetables, and canned food items the most common.

Food Assistance Program

Federal government commodities and other food items are distributed every month to individuals and families. Each household is allowed to pick up food only once a month. We recommend that people choose one site for regular pick up of commodities. Generally, this would be the site that is closest to where they live.

In order to receive the commodity portion of the bag, recipients must meet the income guidelines below:

Number of Persons in Household	Maximum Income
	Monthly	Annually
1	$2,499	$29,986
2	$3,376	$40,514
3	$4,254	$51,042
4	$5,131	$61,570
5	$6,008	$72,098
6	$6,886	$82,626
7	$7,763	$93,154
8	$8,640	$103,682
9	$9,518	$114,210
10	$10,395	$124,738

For each additional person in the household, add $877.33 monthly or $10,528 annually.

Recipients go to the site in their area during distribution hours. They must bring:

- Identification with their current address or picture identification & a document with their current address (PG&E bill, telephone bill, or other correspondence).
- Identification for each member of household, if household size is 6 or more. People will need to certify that their income falls under the guidelines for the program. They will be required to sign for the food.

Food for Children Program

Food for Children is a Food Bank of Contra Costa & Solano program that provides a box of food once a month to 4 - 6 year old children referred by WIC or other community organizations. For more information about this program or for information regarding how to become a referring agency, please contact the Food Bank at (925) 676-7543 x207. Parents or guardians can self-refer by bringing proof of the child’s birthdate and home address to the distribution site in the community in which they live or work.
